Cookies are used on our websites. For further details, visit site Cookie Data Management Information.

☑ Cookies for basic operation ☐ Cookies for statistic purpose ☐ Cookies for marketing purposes

I ACCEPT

DATA MANAGEMENT INFORMATION ON COOKIES

In connection with the processing of personal data on the basis of an appointment to ensure compliance with Act CXII of 2001 on informational self-determination and freedom of information (Info tv.) and with the General Data Protection Regulation 2016/679/EU (GDPR)

Data of the Controller
Controller: FANOS Szolgáltató és Kereskedelmi Kft.,
Registered office: 1015 Budapest, Csalogány u. 6-10.
Tax number: 11917261-2-41
Web: https://www.aquasolhotel.com/
Address: 9200 Mosonmagyaróvár, Lucsony u. 19.
E-mail: info@aquasolhotel.com

Data (cookies) are stored on the visitors of our websites to ensure the most perfect user experience and also for statistical and marketing purposes. The cookies store the information in your browser, and are intended to recognise you when you subsequently return to the website.

Purpose of data management: Data (cookies) are stored on the visitors of our websites to ensure the most perfect user experience and also for statistical and marketing purposes. The cookies store the information in your browser, and are intended to recognise you when you subsequently return to the website.

Circle of persons concerned: The cookies are stored by the system on your machine. Please note in connection with the cookie settings that the use of cookies is enabled according to the basic settings of the browsers. You can delete the cookies from the computed, or set your browser to disable them. If the cookies are disabled, the site might not fully function.

The cookies help also us, the operators of the site, understand which parts of the website are preferred or considered most useful by the users.

Legal base of data management: voluntary consent: Article 6(1)(a) of the GDPR

The automatically recorded data is automatically logged by the system when our website is visited and left, without your separate statement or other acts. This data is not connected with any other personal user data, that is, you may not be identified on the basis of such data. Only third party service providers managing the cookies and we have access to such data.

The cookies are stored by the system on your machine. Please note in connection with the cookie settings that the use of cookies is enabled according to the basic settings of the browsers. You can delete the cookies from the computed, or set your browser to disable them. If the cookies are disabled, the site might not fully function.

The cookies help also us, the operators of the site, understand which parts of the website are preferred or considered most useful by the users.

What information is collected during the use of the website?

The automatically recorded data is automatically logged by the system when our website is visited and left, without your separate statement or other acts. This data is not connected with any other personal user data, that is, you may not be identified on the basis of such data.

Properties and functions of cookies

NECESSARY COOKIES	These cookies are necessary first of all for the proper operation of the site. In addition, they serve also for analytical measurements and the display of ads on the site.
FUNCTIONAL COOKIES	These cookies enable us to display ads for you according to your special interests.
CONVENIENCE COOKIES	These cookies enable us to display ads for you according to your special interests. Recommended setting. These cookies enable us to display or send you customised contents and ads by analysing the use of the site, or to improve our services by using the analyses.
STATISTICAL COOKIES	The statistical cookie provide feedback to the owner of the website to enable it to see what contents are preferred by the users on the website. The data is not connected to a concrete person. We use the cookies of the Google Analytics on our site.
MARKETING COOKIES	The marketing cookies track the users through websites, e.g. for ads, in order to show them relevant contents. (Google, Facebook, Youtube, Twitter, Instagram use such cookies.)

How do we use the information collected by the cookies?

Data collected by means of the above technologies cannot fundamentally used for your identification, and we connect such data with other data potentially suitable for identification only if you give your definite consent for us to use (statistical) cookies suitable for identification. The primary purpose of the use of such data is to properly operate our website.

For that purpose, the followings are necessary

- differentiating between the individual sessions,

- tracking the visit data of our website,
- and screening any abuse in connection with the use of our website.

We can use such information also to analyse the processes and tendencies of use, to improve and develop the operation of our website, and to acquire general turnover data on the overall use of our website.

We can use the information acquired in this way for drawing statistics and their analysis.

Option to disable cookies

If you do not want the above information to be collected on you during the use of our website, you can partially or fully disable the use of cookies or modify the cookie settings in the settings of your browser. Guides on the management of cookies are available via the following links for the different browsers:

- Mozilla Firefox: Enabling and disabling cookies used by the websites to save settings
- Google Chrome: Activation and inactivation of cookies
- Microsoft Internet Explorer: Deletion and management of cookies
- Microsoft Edge: Microsoft Edge, browsing data and privacy
- Apple Safari: Manage Website Data in Safari application of Mac